Draft New Proposal For

fective Since Sept. 4

By The Associated Press
A Sep. 26-The League
council today gave no
hint that they
war until Dec. 4 without the league covenant. One starts aggressive before then that nation would have committed war against all members of the league. The council called for a new draft of the covenant
which would be in operation as of Sept. 4.

Two F.H.A. officials who will attend a public meeting tonight
at 7:30 in the Central Junior High school at which details of the housing program will be explained are shown above. At the top is John E. Harper of Columbus federal housing director of Ohio and former state welfare director. Below is Frank Rosell, associate director of the Columbus district, who will give one of two explanatory talks on the program.

Action Speeded Through
Means three months must be from the date before how can be undertaken without aid of the covenant.

The action was taken in tense
atmosphere and in the space of 70 minutes.

Up to the momentous session the corridors of the league
building were a milling mob of reporters and observers. Foreign press showed prime ministers
and kings.

The viewed with fast moving eye of comment the act of the arrogant delegation which stalked
the building after a tense
hour before the council's public session began.

When the final vote was over the delegates inadvertently bled
at the climax by stumbling in a mass of the lobby stairs.

The final container of castoff
commentaries bounced noisily down
the steps in 12 classes like the rattle of a bell.

France sticks to League
Coming out of the council
and but solemn discussion was the unequalled rallying by France
to the application of the league
covenant in its letter and spirit.

This support given by Premier Laval of France in his speech reporting Great Britain was in fact by many observers as in fact that France has received satisfactory assurances from Great Britain that in any future European conflict Great Britain will involve on the same scrupulous application of the covenant as she is making for in the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

Some said they saw in Laval's
speech a particular indication that Great Britain will stand by France
in the event of any complications arising out of any attempt to destroy the independence of Austria.

The council probably will meet again tomorrow to discuss Emperor Hile Selassie's request that a commission of neutral observers
be sent to the Ethiopian frontiers
to follow the situation and to fore-warn any military clashes.

Sanctions Expected Soon
Some observers said they saw in the speeches of both Anthony Eden
and Great Britain and Maxim Lit-vinov of Russia an indication that sanctions on the sanctions.

SHORTAGE OF CORN
CUTTERS REPORTED

Employment Bureau Able To Fill Only 40 Per Cent of Requests.

Farmers of Marion county and other sections of the state are having difficulty getting enough corn cutters to harvest one of the best crops in recent years.

First B. Scherff, manager of the Marion county Ohio Employment Bureau said he has received approximately 150 requests for corn cutters in the last week, and has been able to fill only about 40 per cent of them.

John A. Bell county relief director said that relief clients many are inexperienced at the work and are working in corn fields and as a result a meeting part of their expenses.

Many of many able bodied men on relief rolls to get transferred to the Ohio Employment Bureau taking corn cutting jobs
which have come from states
which have no corn.

Mr. Scherff said that most farmers are paying rates that would enable an average cutter to make $3 a day a week after a 4 day he said.

He also said the employment office is having difficulty obtaining enough men to fill requests for domestic workers in the city.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

Citizens Urged To Attend Session at 7:30 Tonight at Central Junior School

IMPORTANCE IS STRESSED
Two Leaders in Movement
Will Tell of Benefits of Federal Program

Come to tonight's meeting at the Central Junior High school John E. Harper state director of the federal housing administration
urgently said he spent part of yesterday afternoon helping other F.H.A.
workers stimulate interest in federal housing week activities in Marion.

I only wish I could make every resident of Marion realize the importance of the federal housing program not only to prospective
home owners and those who want to improve their homes but to business and industry generally.

Mr. Harper said
The meeting will be started tonight at 7:30. The two most important phases of the F.H.A. program will be explained by Albert Meyer of Forest management who will speak on Title I loans and Justin Meyer of Forest management of financial relations who will speak on Title II. Mr. Harper is scheduled to attend the meeting
but will not speak. Title I loans are those made for improvement
or modernization of property. Title
II loans are for new home construction purchase of existing property and refinancing of mortgages on existing property.

To emphasize importance of the program, Mr. Harper said, the meeting will be held in the Central Junior High school, which is the new federal housing administration building.

Questions related to the federal housing program will be answered by state and federal F.H.A. officials at a clinic
to be conducted Friday and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5
p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce offices. The two-day clinic will conclude federal housing week activities here.

Representatives of the F.H.A.
have urged residents of Marion
and vicinity to present
questions at the clinic and give them opportunity to explain how loans insured by the federal government can be obtained from banks or other financial institutions to finance
property improvement projects or construction of new urban homes purchase of existing residences or rewriting
of burdensome home mortgages.

THREAT IS HANDED
SUMMER WEATHER

A threat against the summer
weather that has prevailed in Marion for the last several weeks, is made in today's forecast.

Rain tonight which may continue Friday will bring a drop in temperatures, tonight and Friday according to the forecast.

Since Sept. 15 the sun has failed
only once or twice to send the thermometer to 80 or above. The highest reading so far this month
was 89 degrees last Thursday.

Yesterday the maximum reading
was 84 degrees, the mercury falling 21 degrees during the night. A year ago the maximum reading
was 80 degrees and the minimum
was 64 degrees.

NO BREAK SEEN
IN DEADLOCK OF
MINE STRIKERS

Wage Differential and Work
Condition Disputes Added to Tonnage Rate Fight

SUPPLY PERMITS LONG TILT

Non Union Mines in Ohio Feeling Effect of Walkout
as Pickets Act

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—There was no sign today of a break in the soft coal deadlock. Indications were that the strike of mine-men might last for several days at least before a settlement is reached.
Disputes over wage differentials
and working conditions cropped up
yesterday to add to the difficulties
in reaching an agreement and ending the strike which was called last Sunday at midnight. Thus far little or no disorders have been reported from the field.

A survey by operators was said
to have shown that 30,000 unsold
cars of coal were above ground
leading some of those close to the negotiating committee to believe that the mine owners would not worry if a settlement was delayed
some time while they bargained
for terms.

Met All Day Yesterday
The negotiators met continuously
all day yesterday and until 2:30 o'clock this morning without making any apparent progress. Then they recessed until 10:30 a. m.

The main issue still appeared to be the mine owners' demand for a nine-cent increase in tonnage. The union men who dig and load the coal but the question of wage differentials arose to give new trouble.

The controversy developed from a demand by southern Appalachian producers for a 40 cent differential
on day rates under the Virginia and Harlan fields. Virginia producers were reliably reported to be ready to refuse to sign a new contract unless they day rate was the same as Tennessee.

Then Tennessee operators maintain that their labor cost is 16 cents a ton higher than in Virginia and that a 40-cent differential would reduce this difference to about five cents. They contend that granting of the differential would adjust unfair competition now existing between them and Virginia and Alabama.

Reports emanating from the conference indicated that much of yesterday was spent in bargaining
on working conditions to be written into the new wage contract.

One point at issue in this conference was the opposition of the miners to a demand by northern operators for a new rule to govern pay deductions for dirt taken from coal which is washed in central Washington.

On the question of higher wages
only a difference of a cent and a half separates the two sides. The miners demand for a nine-cent increase in tonnage rates has been countered by with operators with an offer to boost them seven and a half cents.

Ohio Mines Feel
Effects of Strike

By The Associated Press
JACKSON, O. Sept. 26—Non-union coal mines in Jackson county began today to feel effects of the strike of the United Mine Workers of America.

Approximately 150 striking miners from Wellston and the Hocking valley picketed highways in the area.

Long before last midnight the road was crowded to its normal capacity—8000 persons. At 11 p. m. came the holy hour during which Bishop Joseph R. Bit-tor of Indianapolis was celebrating Mass. Commissioner Walter Davis estimated the attendance was approximately 150,000.

We had to turn 25,000 away
he said.

There was a meditation period
conducted by Bishop Robert E.
Lucy of Amarillo, Texas. Then came the benediction of the Holy Sacrament. As time for the mass
came the lights of the stadium faded out. Only a single light burned that above the altar, down
on the field.

Soon after the mass started candles began to flicker in all parts of the structure. Worshippers struck lights to the candles they held and soon the soft glow of 75,000 tapers illuminated the reverent gathering.

Clergy Administrator Commission
When the time for the attending the services to receive the Eucharist in Holy Communion
had been planned there was a pause. Because of the immense crowd it was necessary to announce that this could not be done. Instead the men and women were asked to join in a spiritual communion with Archbishop Cichon.

The crowd broke all previous attendance records for the stadium.
Late today crowds will stream
into the stadium again to hear
the benediction of Pope Pius XI.
In a special broadcast from Castle
Gondolfo his summer residence.

SCHOOL LEVY DRIVE

Representatives of 15 civic or organizations have been asked to meet tonight in Harding High school at 7:30 in the first step of a campaign to enlist support of Marion voters for the three-million levy for school operating purposes
to be submitted at the Nov. 5 election.

C. A. Hudson superintendent, and Frank C. Gegenheimer, clerk of the board of education, are scheduled to represent the schools
at the conference, to be held in a first-floor class room.

Business Men Urged To Grasp New Opportunities

Speakers Address Groups as Chamber of Commerce
Prepares For Membership Drive

Urging business men to shake off
a lethargy acquired during the last several years and cooperate to take advantage of opportunities and changes growing out of the depression two speakers last night at a dinner gathering of members of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Comments and Marion Real Estate
board at a dinner meeting at Hotel Hawthorne.

The speakers were W. C. Cullins
of Cincinnati secretary of the Ohio Valley Improvement association and veteran newspaperman and W.
Frank Rosell, associate director of the Columbus district for the federal housing administration. The occasion for the dinner was the first fall meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in preparation for opening the annual membership drive Oct. 7 to 11. Mr. Cullins will return here that week to assist in the campaign.

Warms of Trade
Citing definite benefits to be gained from the depression and warning that New England is preparing to raid cities in this section of the country for industries, Mr.
Cullins called on every business man in Marion to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in holding our industries and gaining new ones.

Many cities in which the depression has not made serious inroads into their industrial set up have acquired an over-proud and certain magnanimity he declared. This feeling is not true pride but has taken the form of ultra complacency—a most dangerous thing to any city.

Mr. Cullins warned
Take stock, rally and reform
your lines and press on to new objectives. That slogan voiced by Hugh Johnson former N.Y.A. director is worthy of adoption in any city, Mr. Cullins declared.

Pennetta the speaker listed as having been gained from the depression included entrance into a new cycle change of mental attitude on the part of the people
changing institutions and a population movement geographically and numerically.

Mr. Cullins quoted percentage figures to show the nation is shrinking in population. Prior to the last several years the population increased about 30 per cent
every 10 years and during the last decade there has been slightly more than a 15 per cent gain. Population experts used to predict that in the year 2000 this country would have 250,000,000 people and they are now 220,000,000.

signs at Main and Center streets.

The board held a luncheon meeting at the Marion Hotel. Copies of the resolutions passed will be presented to council and Service Director C. K. Mewer. Changes in the traffic regulations recommended by the state highway department were favored. C. A. Khan, president of the board, presided
at the meeting.

HOUSE G. O. P. ALTERS
DAVEY BUILDING PLAN
PASSED BY SENATORSBERRODIN ACTS
IN PENSION CASE

State Chief Accepts Resignations of Two Members of County Board

WILL NAME NEW GROUP
Five To Be Chosen From List
of Eight Now Under Consideration

A new Marion county old age
pension board will be named late this week. Henry J. Berrodin, administrator of the state division of aid for the aged, told the Associated Press in Columbus today.

Mr. Berrodin made this announcement after notifying two county commissioners who with the third commissioner had served as the old age pension board for this county that their resignations
have been accepted. He notified them by letter.

The commissioners who resigned
recently, asserting that Mr. Berrodin had ignored their recommendations in the selection of workers for the Marion county old age pension office are O. C. Mc-Curdy and L. J. Cusick. The third commissioner, J. O. Welles, said
at that time he would not resign
until this thing blows over and maybe not then.

Mr. Berrodin said he will name five members to serve on an old age pension board for this county
and will select them from eight persons he is considering. He declined to disclose their names.

Meanwhile Marion county has no pension board. He has refused to comment on the resignations of the two commissioners who were in their commission at the time of their resignation. That political questions apparently taken into consideration
by Mr. Berrodin had been responsible largely for their differences.

The commissioners said Mr. Berrodin had refused their choice of a person to serve as investigator
in the Marion county pension office and had asked them for another and third choices which they refused to furnish.

As Mr. Berrodin outlined his plans to appoint a Marion county board today he said he is taking this time studying the Ohio government survey report on his division and will make a detailed answer within 10 days.

Handling of pension applications
and reapplications apparently has not been delayed in Marion county
because of lack of a county pension board. James L. Kirby, old age pension administrator for Marion county, said a number of applications and reapplications have been sent to Columbus without significance of any county board in the period since Cusick and McCurdy resigned.

Notified that a county board is to be appointed soon he expressed hope today that early action be taken to select an investigator for the county office. He explained that the volume of work of investigating reapplications will increase sharply in November and that an investigator should be selected in time to spend several weeks getting acquainted with the work before the rush of work begins.

STATE RELIEF
ROLLS SHRINK

Ohio List Reduced Five Per Cent; Marion County
Drop Greater.

10 PER CENT LOWER HERE
Decline Attributed To Seasonal and Improved Industrial Conditions.

Relief rolls in Marion county and the entire state shrink markedly in the 30 day period from July to August.

C. C. Stillman, federal relief administrator for Ohio, told The Associated Press that a reduction of 45,264 in the state relief clients was noted in the period. This reduction amounted to slightly less than five per cent of the total
which now stands at 1,066,140.

John Abel county relief director said the percentage of reduction
was even greater in Marion county.
He estimated 10 per cent of the number of clients in this county
in July are now self supporting. The number on relief now is 2,071 families and non-family persons.

Relief officials attributed the decline, which has been steady
throughout the summer, to seasonal and improved industrial conditions.
Reductions appeared significant
in view of the fact that the work-
progress administration program
did not get under way in the state
until late in August.

It was an encouraging sign to federal relief officials who hope to liquidate the direct relief setup for the state by Nov. 1. Eleven counties already have taken over the state relief rolls and are expected to take over its relief burden until
Nov. 1 or after due to lack of local funds.

Stillman reported that there were

Building Costing $70,000 Will Be Erected at West High and South Cherry.

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, Sept. 26.—Mt. Gilead's new postoffice building will be located at the corner of West High and South Cherry streets on the property owned now by the Dr. W. C. Bennett estate according to unofficial word received from Washington D. C. this week. Postmaster Carl V. Berner said today he had not been officially notified that this site had been selected but it was learned that others here were advised by postoffice department officials that the location has been definitely determined.

The Alhambra property, next to the corner owned by Clyvia Boller will also be a part of the site. The two combined give the lot three sides on street. High Center and Cherry and the fourth side is an alley on the west on the other side of which is the first Baptist church.

The new building will be constructed at a cost of $70,000 including the cost of the site. It was announced.

JUDGE IS UPHELD IN VETS' FUND ACTION

Court of Appeals Affirms Order Against Morrow County Board.

Special to The Star
The Fifth district appellate court today handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of Judge P. H. Wile in which he issued a mandamus writ requiring the Morrow county commissioners to comply with the request of the soldiers relief commission for an appropriation of $4000 for the current year. The commissioners had refused to comply with the request for $4000 although a statute provides that the commission may ask for a sum up to one half mill on the duplicate or $4000 for this county. The opinion held that the county commissioners cannot concern themselves in any way with the distribution of the funds as that is the legal function of the soldiers relief commission.

REPUBLICANS READY FOR 1936 CAMPAIGN

No Agreement on Candidates, Although Much Speculation on Borah, Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The Republican party machine was geared today for an early start on the campaign to defeat President Roosevelt next year, but there was no sign of an agreement on the candidate to run against him.

Plans for an early hard hitting campaign were laid yesterday by the national executive committee in its first meeting since before the Democratic landslide last year. Members of the group were homebound today cheered by reports of reviving Republican sentiment.

Officially the committee was not concerned with candidacies. Unofficially they were uppermost in everyone's mind. The big question marks in the speculation were Herbert Hoover and William L. Borah. Were they candidates? What were their plans?

Close friends of former President Hoover and some of the other men prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination were present in the hotel where the committee met. Mr. Hoover's friends refused to discuss his plans for publication. Chairman Fletcher denied the committee had considered candidacies.

In New York however the New York Times said Mr. Hoover's friends had definitely informed members of the executive committee of the Republican national committee that he was not a candidate for the nomination for President next year. His sole interest in the party as its titular leader they declared was to see the nomination of a standard bearer whom prominently opposed to new deal policies and the adoption of an anti-socialistic platform.

Major league baseball took the play away from the legions major league baseball took the play away from the legions major league baseball took the play away from the legions.

Commander Frank N. Bolgrano Jr. looking down on a handful of delegates who had not deserted the floor in favor of the St. Louis Chicago baseball game put off the report of the committee on legislation and adjourned the day's business session in mid-afternoon.

During a day of rapid fire action however the delegates showed their approval of the demand that this country withdraw its recognition of Soviet Russia.

He urged the expansion and development of the army navy and air fighting corps and asked that a 10-year barrier against immigrants be thrown up around the United States.

An indication of the political maneuvering back of the convention came yesterday during the four ballots which were necessary before Cleveland finally won next year's convention. Leading Los Angeles Atlantic City and Denver all the way but unable to muster a majority Cleveland's advantage soared when the Illinois delegation suddenly pitched 75 of its 79 votes to the Ohio city.

county and halted trucks hauling coal from the non union mines.

Leon Bennett of Washington C. H. said he had been here since 2 a m trying to leave with a truckload of coal. He said other trucks were being forced to return to the mines and unload or if they wished to proceed to dump their coal beside the highways.

Bennett said he had appealed to the state highway patrol for help but was informed the patrol had no orders to take a hand in the situation.

There are approximately 100 non union mines in Jackson county. They are operated by one to 15 men.

By The Associated Press. ATHENS, O. Sept. 23.—Ray Noble district works progress administration supervisor said coal strikers will be eligible for WPA employment if the present bituminous strike is prolonged and the men qualify for jobs. If the government rules the strike is illegal the men will be refused work he said.

ALLEGED WARREN ROBBERS ON TRIAL

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O. Sept. 23.—George Sargent and Anthony Librizetti of Akron went to trial today before Federal Judge Samuel West on charges of robbing the mail of $272,000 in cash and $53,000 in bonds last April 24 at Warren.

After selection 30 men and two women. Assistant U. S. Attorney Frank Weidmann outlined the government's case by saying he intended to prove that the two men charged were actually the ones who perpetrated the robbery.

BRIDGE CHAMPIONS MEET IN CINCINNATI

Contests for Maurice Mauchle Cup Started Today

By The Associated Press. CINCINNATI, O. Sept. 23.—Leading bridge players of the country were here today for the western states championship of the American Bridge league with tournament of four play for the Maurice Mauchle trophy, the highest on the day's program.

Final rounds for the award will be played Friday afternoon and night.

Twenty four pairs competed last night in a six-finish of the mixed pair championship which Ohioans topped at least one New York recognized expert in scoring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sharkey of Middletown finished seventh. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Woodruff of Middletown were 13th and Mr. and Mrs. Anne Rosenfeld of Cleveland and Mr. Derrier J. Werber of New York were nineteenth.

Werber has gained wide recognition through the east.

WAR DEADLINE SET DEC. 4 BY LEAGUE

which might be employed against Italy will be vigorously pursued.

Eden said in his speech that while the council's report was being drafted the governments will have an opportunity to consider whether and if so how anything further can be done to safeguard peace.

Litvinoff was deemed to have made an even clearer allusion to sanctions when he said no doubt could be entertained regarding the response his government would give to any proposals which the council may make for the safeguarding of the peace of Africa.

In connection with this angle league officials stated that the council has the power to put into its recommendations if it wishes suggestions for economic and financial sanctions and other general measures of restraint against a nation which launches war after rejecting the recommendations.

Guinnati Offers Proposal. The president of the council Enrique Ruiz Guinnati of Argentina presented the recommendation for procedure under article 16 to make and publish a report on the case and recommendations—violations of which it adopted unanimously would be considered an act of war against all league members under article 16 leading to sanctions.

The Italian caused a brief whirl of excitement just before the council public meeting was opened by their walkout.

As on the occasion of the recent dramatic walkout by Baron Pomposo Alois their chief delegate from a council meeting, the other delegates and spectators were left in the dark as to the meaning of this new gesture.

A spokesman for the Italian delegation however later explained that the second session was correct—namely that Italy will not sit at the same table with Italy's ally. This time moreover the act was a little stronger since the Italian had walked all the way out of the building.

Italian authorities called off the snarling of some 10,000 Italian originally destined to guard the frontier of Italy's north African possession of Libya bordering on Egypt.

The action was attributed to an easing of tension between Britain and Italy and general Italian opinion swung to admiration of the possibility that the league might take some constructive step toward further discussion of the Italian-Ethiopian conflict.

Great Britain disclosing a program to make the entire Mediterranean front in Greek waters next fall. Italian naval concentrations also looked to its home defenses. A program was advanced for instruction in how to act in the event of bomb attacks.

In the capital of the east African center of the controversy Emperor Haile Selassie gave a lance permission to station troops at Derdawa to help preserve order and protect the Franco-Ethiopian railway.

Rain Over Now. The eve of the festival of Maske marking the end of the tropical rainy season brought general rejoicing and a brilliant tropical sun.

In Berlin German officials said the key to their action in event the league should apply economic sanctions against Italy probably located in Austria or Switzerland. If either nation should continue to sell to Italy they said doubtless Germany would do so.

By The Associated Press. BRIDGEPORT Conn. Sept. 23.—State Referee Isaac Wollie recommended to the superior court today that a divorce be granted Dorothy Gish former screen star from James F. Renne New York actor.

The referee held that Renne had been guilty of intolerable cruelty. The trouble the referee reported was occasioned by the defendant's use of intoxicating liquor. During the week he would use liquor moderately but at week ends he would use it to excess. At such times he would come home in early hours of the morning and plaintiff would usually remain awake waiting for him to come.

INDICT LORAIN MAN FOR WIFE'S DEATH

By The Associated Press. LORAIN, O. Sept. 23.—County Prosecutor Howard Butler said today Joseph Meluch 28 would be arraigned Saturday for second degree murder in the death Aug. 20 of his wife Dorothy. Meluch is charged with six weeks. The Lorain county grand jury indicted Meluch yesterday. He gave himself up in St. Louis, Sept. 4.

FLIGHT OF TRANSIENT PUZZLE FOR SHERIFF

Crawford County Officer Hunting for Man With Fractured Skull

Special to The Star. HUCYRUS, O. Sept. 23.—James Miller 26 of Jacksonville Fla. is the man who is the puzzle for today's Crawford county sheriff for tonight on Route 30 taken to the city hospital where it was discovered he was suffering from a fractured skull which might prove serious the man this morning grooved his hand and walked out of the hospital with no parting word to anyone.

Sheriff Stuckert would like to question the man about how he met with the accident in which he was hurt and why he was in such a hurry to pass up a soft bed three miles a day and no expense at the hospital for the life of a transient.

Last night a man drove into Carl Light's filling station located at the west edge of Bucyrus on Route 30 and reported he had seen a man apparently dead lying at the side of the road about a mile and a half farther west.

Sheriff Stuckert said the man had not been drinking and that he had been knocked down by an automobile. He was poorly dressed and his clothes were torn.

Sheriff Stuckert this morning said he doubted the authenticity of a name and address which the man gave. The man said he didn't know how he had been hurt.

table service and besides new range refrigerators and other large equipment necessary to furnish a modern kitchen Mrs. Thurn will have many smaller utensils and tools in her kitchen to use while she bakes and cooks.

The new silver linen glass and china are so handsome and economical and so widely available that every housekeeper should be able to have all she wants for family meals and simple entertaining.

Mrs. Thurn said writing about the school. She also has a great deal to say on simple entertaining. It is the most popular today with every kind of hostess whether for bridge parties or anniversary dinners. Long menus fancy dishes foods dressed up too much are bad taste for entertaining or home service. The essential in day by day cookery of family housekeeping will be featured with the light or things which the average woman likes to serve at bridge parties home luncheon and teas.

These make up the most important part of the cooking discussions and demonstrations. But in the free remarks which this famous home maker gives away daily are many for entertaining and family meals for over cookery refrigerator cookery for using left overs and the staple supplies to be found in local markets.

Mrs. Thurn also will answer questions from the platform and in every possible way make the women of their community feel that this school is their school.

A part of every day's program will be giving away of dishes cooked that day, of filled market baskets and other housekeeping gifts of interest to women.

The school opens Tuesday at 2 o'clock at The Star auditorium. All seats are free. Every woman in Marion and vicinity is invited and there will be seats for all. But The Star reminds its readers that the early comers will of course have the best seats down in front and those who bring their pencils and notebooks will have the best opportunity of writing down questions and having them answered from the platform.

This is a free school for every woman young and old. Make it yours in every sense by early attendance and interested cooperation.

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE 4 TALKS ON TOUR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt would make four speeches on his trip across the country beginning tonight.

The first brief talk at Fremont Neb. Saturday afternoon. The other set speeches will be at Boulder dam Monday about noon, a brief speech Tuesday at Weehawken afternoon.

Stephen T. Early a presidential secretary in announcing the speaking itinerary said the Boulder dam and San Diego addresses would be the main ones.

By The Associated Press. PARIS, Sept. 23.—Rumors of disension within Premier Mussolini's cabinet over the Ethiopian campaign were published by the leftist press today.

These newspapers speculated as to the possibility of a revolt in Italy and hinted that England would like to see a more friendly government in power in Italy.

GROUPS ARE TOLD OF NEW OPPORTUNITIES

saying it may shrink to 75,000,000 by that time.

This population change is spotty. Cullins said States such as California Florida Michigan and New Jersey are increasing so rapidly that others. The increase in Marion in the last decade has been 11 per cent less than the national average he pointed out.

Cullins dipped into history to show that population shrinkage is disastrous to a community. He pointed to ancient Rome Carthage Antioch and Troy. The latter city was destroyed and rebuilt nine times and now offers an excellent opportunity for archeologists to explore.

City Competition Keen.

We are now embarking on a new cycle of keen city competition in this country. Cullins declared. Last February officials and industries of New England cities held a huge meeting to determine what is going to happen to New England Textile Industries located there are moving south and where in 1920 there were 37,000,000 spindles working today there are less than 4,000,000.

New England is now preparing to raise cities in other sections of the country the appeal is urgent. The banks are coming—not the British but the banks. They are prepared to offer many inducements—furnish empty industrial plants free or cheaply and require no tax payments over a long period of time.

It is the job of the Chamber of Commerce and every citizen interested in Marion's welfare to cooperate to hold our industries. Cullins said.

It is now up to every business man to know the untold millions of things a man does that he would not have to do.

Frank Rosell federal housing administration official here this week to help put over the FHA clinic chose as his subject The FHA and Prosperity.

He explained the purpose of the clinic as an FHA function to find out what the mortgage problems in Marion are and to present a workable solution.

If we put the building industry back on its feet we will have licked the depression. Rosell declared. It is the second largest industry in the United States and normally employs 6,000,000 people he said while during the last five years only 600,000 have been employed.

City Building Drop. In the years from 1920 to 1930 more than 400,000 home units per year were produced by builders in 257 key cities of the country and the last five years a total of only 200,000 have been produced the speaker pointed out.

Housing is to be the next big push by the federal government. Rosell told his audience. Peter Grimm chief assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for coordination of all housing activities predicts there will be 750,000 to 1,000,000 homes built in the United States next year.

The speaker cited another need for an immediate building boom. Skilled labor in the building trades during the depression years has been entering other branches of the economy causing a menacing shortage of building experts he said.

If the building industry can be returned to normalcy at least 5,000,000 men will be directly engaged in it and millions more indirectly benefited Rosell predicted.

England with one-third our population has been producing new home units at the rate of 300,000 a year—while we only produced 200,000 in the last five years.

Bennett Blaine president of the Chamber of Commerce acted as toastmaster, introducing the speaker W. D. Brown Chamber secretary introduced W. Justin Meyer Forest, O. banker who is here in the interest of housing work.

Mr. Bindley urged all Chamber members to prepare for the membership drive to open Oct. 7.

CALIFORNIAN ADMITS HE POISONED COUPLE

Slipped Chemicals into Coffee Then Shunted Bodies Off Ocean Pier in Auto

By The Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Calif. Sept. 23.—Detective Lieut. Frank Condrader said today 19-year old Leroy Drake Jr. has admitted he slipped poison into the coffee his aunt and uncle drank a week ago and attempted to hide their deaths by shunting their bodies off a pier into the ocean in their own automobile.

Drake was booked on suspicion of murder of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steinhilber both of the curly haired under college student came a few hours after the bodies were recovered from the submerged automobile in San Pedro harbor.

He admitted from the start Condrader said that he had disposed of the bodies but maintained for a time that his uncle was poisoned by his aunt who then ended her own life.

I was awaiting hearing on an application for probation on conviction of the theft of an automobile. Condrader quoted Blake as saying I felt I had little hope of escaping a prison term and that the disgrace would cause the death of my aunt.

The youth Condrader said declared he determined to kill the elderly woman and went to a drug store where he purchased a deadly poison and several other chemicals to avoid suspicion.

Earlier the youth had told a fan last night story about the double killing in which he posed as the attempted destroyer of the bodies to prevent his elders appearing in a bad light before the community.

HOUSE G. O. P. ALTERS DAVEY BUILDING PLAN

house were four administration measures all virtually sprung. Yoder indicated the senate would convene Saturday to act on any of its bills approved by the house wind up its business and possibly recess until late October or November.

A bill designed to aid tax payers behind in meeting their assessments also passed the senate and went to the house. A similar law expired Sept. 1. It would permit until Dec. 31 1933 installment payments of delinquent taxes with out penalties or payment of back taxes.

Chairman Keith Lawrence Democrat of Cuyahoga of the senate taxation committee introduced the relief plan. Rep. P. E. Ward Republican of Genoa suggested it to the committee two days ago.

Provision for Amendment. The bill would provide for a constitutional amendment to place bonds under the Carey act and allow the 10-mill limitation and permit their issuance without a vote of the people. The amendment would be voted on in November.

Approximately $15,000,000 would be available if this method is approved. Relief officials estimate $23,000,000 will be needed for the next 18 months. Sponsors of the bill would obtain the balance needed from the sales tax which provided $10,000,000 this year.

Any county would be able to issue bonds to finance relief needs if the constitutional amendment is adopted. The 10-mill limitation now prohibits this in many counties without a vote of the people.

A one per cent utility excise tax has been earmarked under the Carey act to retire the bonds.

Committee to Act on Neither. Lawrence told the senate that neither of Gov. Davey's relief financing proposals would be acted on by the taxation committee. One would have set up a state relief authority to administer funds under the Carey act and the second provided for a $40,000,000 relief bond issue.

The bill setting up the building commission also would appropriate $3,000,000 to start construction work provided the federal government contributed $4,000,000. Federal appropriations are being sought.

Three citizens and two state officials would serve without compensation on the commission.

Another Davey proposal apparently fell by the wayside when the senate recessed. It would have set up a state crime bureau patterned after the U. S. department of justice.

The senate approved a constitutional amendment to increase the number of probate judges in counties of over 40,000 population. If the house approved it the amendment will be voted on in November. At least one judge is provided for each county.

Authorize Tax Vote. Other measures accepted by the senate would authorize counties to submit tax levies for statutory welfare work to the voters at any time prior to Dec. 31 1933. Requires only a majority vote.

Permit library boards to submit bond issues to a vote so that library buildings may be improved with the aid of PWA funds.

Permit municipalities to place taxes on the ballot to provide for operating debts of municipally owned universities incurred prior to Jan. 1934. Requires only a majority vote.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O. Sept. 23.—The supreme court Wednesday refused a review of the decision of the lower courts of Delaware county in dismissing the suit of Corn C. Lowrey for $25,000 damage against the probate judge of Delaware county and three physicians. The suit was filed by Lowrey claiming that he had conspired to have her committed to an institution for the insane.

GAME DEVICES BACK IN OPERATION HERE

a number of Marion business places which receive 25 per cent of the gross receipts from the petition according to the petition.

Norwood and his attorney Grant E. Mouser Jr. of the law firm of Mouser Mouser & Wilent described the action as a friendly suit with the sole object of obtaining a court decision on legality of the machines. They said the machines have not been regarded as gambling devices in a number of other places in the state.

The machines known as the novelty merchantman are described in the petition as devices that dispense breath pellets when a five-cent coin is inserted. The machine delivers for each coin as many breath pellets or more as the ordinary cellophane package of breath pellets sold on the open market. As soon as the coin is inserted in the slot of the machine a miniature crane operates and the person inserting the coin by careful calculation and the exercise of skill may remove one of a number of articles of merchandise located in the machine.

Norwood and Goyer assert they entered into contracts Friday with a number of business places for leasing space for exhibiting the machines and charge that the police chief's action prohibiting operation of them is violative of the constitutional rights of the owners to enter into lawful contracts.

They allege the purchaser of breath pellets gets value received for his money and that prizes are not offered in connection with the purchase of pellets. The obtaining of an article of merchandise in addition to the purchase of the breath pellets for each five cent coin results only through careful calculation of the mechanical device and the skill of the person operating the crane in the machine. The petition states.

Spaght said he recently refused to pay a bill for $80 for picking cherries. The work should have been done by home inmates he said.

Spaght said he would like to see the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors home at San Lucas changed into a well fare institution to take care of the 500 insane patients in Cuyahoga county.

He insisted however that no legislation would make such provision which was recommended by the Sheriff's state government survey.

On Spaght's recommendation the committee fixed a maximum of $50 a day as the amount the state would pay for the care of insane patients placed in private hospitals.

Spaght suggested a $12,000 appropriation for care of insane with the $250 a day for each patient limit inserted.

LABOR SUPPLY SHORT IN FAYETTE COUNTY

Demand for Help To Harvest Corn Brings Employment Boost.

WASHINGTON, C. 12 C. Sept. 25.—The national reemployment bureau reported today that the demand for labor in Fayette county exceeds the supply. This is the first time in several years that such a condition has existed in this agricultural county.

The situation was created by demands of farmers for help to get their fast ripening corn harvested. Numerous farm hands also have come here from other counties to help.

Most of the county's industries are working full time. An another indication of improved conditions, the federal relief administration notified county officials today that it would let them care for their unemployed alone after Oct. 7.

Twenty-three other Ohio counties have been notified to take over care of unemployed by that date.

Floyd Elliott, acting head of the reemployment bureau here, said he had been trying in vain for two days to find 50 more men to fill demands for jobs. The bureau lists 800 men on its rolls.

YEAR'S WORK BEGUN BY FUTURE FARMERS

Morrill and Harpster Chapters Outline Program For New Season.

Harpster and Morrill chapters of the Future Farmers of America have organized for the ensuing year and are planning programs of activities.

This is the first year the Harpster school has had a Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture course. Farm crops and farm shop courses are offered. A short course will be offered to young farmers of the community in the fall and winter months, probably in a wine and management.

The Morrill chapter of Future Farmers was given its charter last year, but this year was expanded to include the Grand Prairie school.

Officers of the Morrill chapter are Oscar Miller, president; Robert Danner, vice president; Cyril Bryant, secretary; Paul Gibb, treasurer; Willard Davidson, reporter. The next meeting will be held Oct. 2.

Officers of the Harpster chapter are Harley Sigler, president; Stephen Mawer, vice president; Harold Tivenan, secretary; Harold Sheaffer, treasurer; Raymond Culver, reporter. The first Tuesday night of each month has been selected for regular meetings.

Members of the new Harpster F. F. A. chapter are Harley Sigler, Raymond Culver, Harold Tivenan, Paul Culver, Gerald Sheaffer, Harold Sheaffer, Albert Ellis, Stephen Mawer, Wilbur Fry, Richard Mawer and Leroy Jones.

CONSTIPATION LEADS TO FORTY SERIOUS AILMENTS

But Read How A New Medicine, That Works With Your Food, Relieves Constipation. It Is Called Indo-Vin.

A new mixture of medicinal ingredients has been found which has a material action upon the bowels and stomach. It is not a cure-all, not a "patent medicine," but a scientific formula that works with the sufferer's food, known as Indo-Vin, now being introduced to the public daily here in Marion at Eckerd's Drug Store, 140 S. Main Street.

WHAT INDO-VIN IS
It is a medicine of Nature's plants containing a combination of ingredients found in no other known formula. These ingredients mix with the food in one's stomach, aid in throwing off the poisons that foster stomach disorders and permit the liver and bowels to function properly. It will cleanse your bowels (gradually—not drastic or severe) as they were never cleansed before and tone them into better daily action.

It will work on those gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been inside you for a long time. It will help remove poisons that have caused you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions, foul breath, and rheumatic pains.

Indo-Vin will clear your stomach and intestines of old gas, sourness, fermentation and other impure "matter" which often forms a coating on the linings, frequently being the real cause of trouble with digestion.

Eckerd's Drug Store, 140 S. Main Street, here in Marion, is now introducing and explaining this great mixture of Nature's Medicines to the local public. Also being sold in all the nearby towns by every good druggist throughout this whole section.—Adv.

THURSDAY - SEPTEMBER 24 1936

Cleveland's Day of Glory.

Accounts of the Eucharistic congress in Cleveland this week have revealed more forcefully than elaborate preparations for the assembly could reveal the extraordinary nature of the occasion. Cleveland has been having a day of glory unsurpassed in its history as a favorite location for vast meetings.

The Eucharistic congress is a religious demonstration against secularization. It is a wholly spiritual assembly, even though its enormity is likely to impress the observer with breath-taking details of its materialistic aspects. But to those participating in it directly those aspects are merely incidental.

The presence in the congress of Patrick Cardinal Hayes, legate of Pope Pius XI, has given to the assembly a distinction no other national gathering has had before. It is a mark of solidarity which is appreciated deeply by Catholics both who are able to be in Cleveland and those who would attend the congress if they could.

The success of the congress is assured by the attention it attracts as well as by the effect on participants. Much is being spoken and written constantly about America's religious disunity of the spirit and life. The enormity of the Eucharistic congress in Cleveland dispels completely whatever notions may be held of the appearance of spiritual concepts. They may be imperfect both in quality and in number but they are far from being extinct, or even in danger of extinction.

Land of Opportunity

If you succeed wrong on the winner of the Dier-Louis fight think of the opportunity for trying your judgment again. Which team is going to win the National league pennant? That's an easy one on the face of it. All right then which team is going to win the world series?

In Ohio State going to go through its schedule unbeaten and how badly will it defeat Michigan? Now there's a sure thing for Ohioans.

Will Army beat Navy this year? Will Notre Dame return to its former glory? Will Yale beat Harvard? Is the internal pass going to come up to expectations? Oh yes and will Jim Broadbent be able to put up a good showing when he defends his title? Lots of opportunity for guessing there when the time comes.

Is there going to be a mild winter or a severe one? In the same vein of thought are things going to get better or worse? By the way do you think the Detroit Tigers will be the strongest team in the American league next year?

Will Italy invade Ethiopia and if so what? Is there going to be war in Europe? Is France going to turn fascist?

The best and biggest guessing of all is just around the corner in 1938. Are the Republicans going to be able to make a showing?

When it comes to guessing this is a land of opportunity—or didn't you pick the winner Tuesday night?

Tension.

Europe and particularly the Mediterranean area is in a state of tension which is as much of a threat to peace as the conditions which produced it. Any one of numerous types of accidents might prove to be the international incident that would ignite the dry tinder of war.

Italian and British fighting ships are dangerously close together in the Mediterranean. The Suez canal is a sensitive nerve of communication that might be thrown into a convulsion by a sudden shock. The Straits of Gibraltar must be protected.

Great Britain explains it has taken action because of intolerant criticism appearing in Italian newspapers. Italy, in turn explains it has given an appearance of hostility because of intolerant criticism in British newspapers. When governments confess they regulate their foreign policy according to the views of the press surely it is a sign of abnormal strain.

Not all the powder kegs are in evidence of course. Anyone can see the possibilities in the Mediterranean region but there are equally dangerous possibilities farther north. In France the other day there was a fascist mobilization. In Germany there undoubtedly are men keenly aware of the possibilities of seizing Austria, if Italy becomes occupied elsewhere. The Balkan states, as always are on edge. The old hatreds and ambitions are reasserting themselves as once more the possibility of re-creating Europe's political balances appears. A shot, a quarrel, an unexplained explosion a vicious rumor might start the flames of war passion. The tension of Europe vibrant enough to be felt even in the Atlantic is its most dangerous threat to peace.

Forty Billion.

Politicians can have high fun with figures. Federal expenditures under the Roosevelt administration offer unusual opportunities due to the fact nobody is quite certain how much money has been spent or how much of it is going to be returned eventually.

A Republican congressman, Rep. Chester C. Bolton of Ohio 22nd district has prepared a table of new deal funds which reveals some of the fun his party is going to have in the next national campaign. Rep. Bolton's approach is significant.

Congress has appropriated $30,720,000,000 for expenditures by the new deal administration according to his estimate. In addition the government has assumed contingent obligations of $9,400,000,000 which makes a total of $40,120,000,000.

The national debt at the close of the present fiscal year Rep. Bolton estimates will be $23,000,000,000 representing an accumulated deficit of $13,000,000,000 over and above all revenues since President Roosevelt was inaugurated.

Exclusive of CCC enrollment 729,760 civilians were employed by the federal government at the close of the last fiscal year. On March 1, 1933 there were only 503,600 employees. Approximately 70 new boards, commissions and miscellaneous agencies have been created since March, 1933.

Rep. Bolton's figures will be attacked of course. No one is certain just how much has been spent and lent during the Roosevelt administration a two and one half years of activity. Yet because Rep. Bolton has given the administration a financial bill of $40 billion dollars in its financial dealings and that it has at least thirty billion dollars available for expenditure his figure can't be laughed off. In fact it's hard to laugh off any figure that runs into more than nine digits as the administration's defenders are destined to learn when they try to do it.

To a Brave Lady

That lady who sat in front of you at the football game the one who seemed such a good sport and showed enthusiasm that seemed to go with her gray hair—who was she?

When the team came on in the field and the crowd roared she looked about her almost incredulously as though she couldn't understand so much approbation. Then she studied her program and seemed to be looking for one particular number.

She stood up at the kickoff and when the ball finally came to rest in a pair of outstretched arms her hand clutched the arm of the gentleman beside her. Her excitement was not vocal but it was none the less real for not being expressed in shouts.

When the home team made that long gain with the ball carrier splitting desperately to out distance three pursuers why did she seem to weep and turn with the runner? Such sympathetic motion is not uncommon among men who have played football but why did she do it?

And what made her fall so strangely all out and strain when the ball was called after a fumbled play off tackle which left one bright jersey flying with on the grass? Was that a handkerchief she put to her eyes when the young warrior arose and the crowd roared approval of his pluck?

Yes it probably was a handkerchief. The lady was the mother of the star half back and the bravest person at the game. Others know of course that football accidents are rare in proportion to the number of players. They know that every precaution is taken to prevent injury. But they don't know how to keep from feeling anxious.

Oh yes and the gentleman beside her he was the star halfback's father. He knew all the time they couldn't hurt his boy.

To Sylvia.

Lady Sylvia Parkins English actress is visiting the United States like all actresses, she needs publicity.

So Lady Sylvia or her press agent hit on the idea of amusing and shocking the United States with a story of pipe smoking. Lady Sylvia had her picture taken with her pipe clutched in her teeth. She backed up the picture evidence with an interview on the care of the pipe. It was news of a kind. At least it was amusing.

Lady Sylvia got her publicity which is what she expected. Newspaper editors got a good story which is what they expected. Furthermore pipe smokers (real ones) who weren't warned and therefore expected nothing got what they can expect from almost any lady who intrudes on their prerogative. Lady Sylvia digs at the cake in her pipe with a hairpin. Digging in a pipe with a hairpin—just imagine! Confidentially Lady Sylvia you had better stick to cigarettes cigars chewing tobacco or something. Pipes apparently are out of your line.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Sunday dinner at the Cafe Lafayette now and then is among the rites of a coterie of established New Yorkers mostly of French descent. The propriety of the Lafayette is the man whose $25,000 prize inspired the Lindbergh flight. He has not allowed modernity to trespass too heavily.

There are still untroubled coteries where patrons with enormously gilded bouquets of brandy may idle over the ancient game of rubio or the later piece entry known as dominoes. The blue flame of the crepe Suzette dances a flicker at almost every table side.

Along with fashionables is a sprinkling of custom clingers. The elderly lady whose ears are ringed with loops of green jade—the type always present in the grill of the Grand Vatel. And the prudent monocle with abbeccial black gloves funeral collar and skimp high lapels of the 50's.

There is the orchestra trio moving slowly playing softly the familiar Viennese waltzes and of course the inevitable "Valencia." Outside to catch the illusion there is usually a red-headed dancer whose moulted jehu has managed somehow to retain his patented leather cockade hat.

I hear many ladies devoted to the reigning diet of crab-meat lettuce and butter milk eat their meal before attending lunch or dinner. Thus fortified they do not give way to temptations for fattening foods. There has sprung up an art among them in appearing to eat without touching a bite. They go through the semblances without a taste.

They played one of those dirty tricks on Seymour Felix Ziegfeld's former dance director in Hollywood the other day. William Anthony McGuire invited him to come as Topsy to a costume party. He arrived all plumed blackened and calico frocked was jockeyed to the reception room and thrown in before the guests. He came in immediately garbed in evening clothes. All he could do was back out looking silly which he did.

Speaking of silliness I think the silliest dog in the city is a Boston. An hour ago he came tearing into the workshop like a bat out of you know where a rubberized strip from a pair of suspenders. I pulled at one end and let it snap in his face. He dropped it like a hot cake backed under a book case and lay there pecking and growling at it the findly ever since.

Dorothy H. Smith San Francisco car loaner takes issue with the ukase in this column that Mark Twain and W. J. Bryan lent themselves more than most Americans to caricature. Smith maintains Irvin Cobb tops all and forwards a quick hilarious sketch to prove his case. Cobb's Juliet, though, is a masterpiece and what he calls his "South American tapir" lies along with the jointly upward clear tilt provide material for those grotesque exaggerations the limners love.

There's the cool trickle of clear water over jacked rocks in this puff from a press agent's blurb. Nela Day, South Pacific singer, latest hit in the Pacific Coast. It's on her lips in English, French, and a linguistic rhymoid in Seattle, calls attention to a new streamlined ferry in the Puget Sound named halibut and pronounced ka-loch-ah. Almost a runner up in euphonic beauty was the sledge dog in Wilson Mirner's Alaska days a husky called Shoshone no shush. Then there's that town with the windshield wiper name—Lithian Illinois.

Thingumabobs Will Rogers was among the few heavy load wren pen and ink letters. Beverly Nichols has an all rock cottage with ten foot wide fireplace in heart of the Cromwell country in England. James Branch Cabell shuns Broadway like a plague on New York streets. He likes to dine at an obscure table at the Bresport. Francine Furminger goes nowhere with out her pair of Yorkville tongs. Fumelle Hurst has lost the whole colored secretary all her successful years.

Tales of the recent flunk at the California Bohemian show all drift to town. One of the blurbettes was Sam Blythe's convention at which Gene Buck was nominated for president of the Heaven Fostaken party on the Buck and Wing ticket. With a Dance Platform.

Neighborhood History

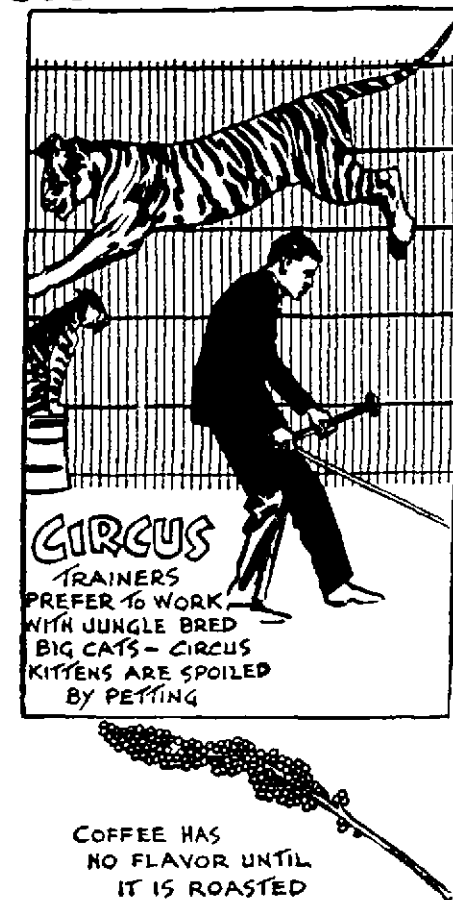

CHAMPION FIRE COMPANY
Back in 1875 the village of Nevada in Wyandot county had a hook and ladder company of which it might well be boastful. It was well known throughout this section of the state as a sporting company and carried off many tournament honors.

In the year mentioned the company won second honors in a tournament at Bucyrus against the Norwalk company which at that time held the championship of the United States. Through its participation in tournaments the company won a reputation for skill and efficiency.

The hook and ladder company was organized April 8, 1872 with the following officers: J. A. Brown, foreman; F. Mollenkopf, assistant foreman; J. N. Goodbread, secretary; D. E. Jefferson, treasurer; O. Campbell, William Price and Stephen Kerr, trustees.

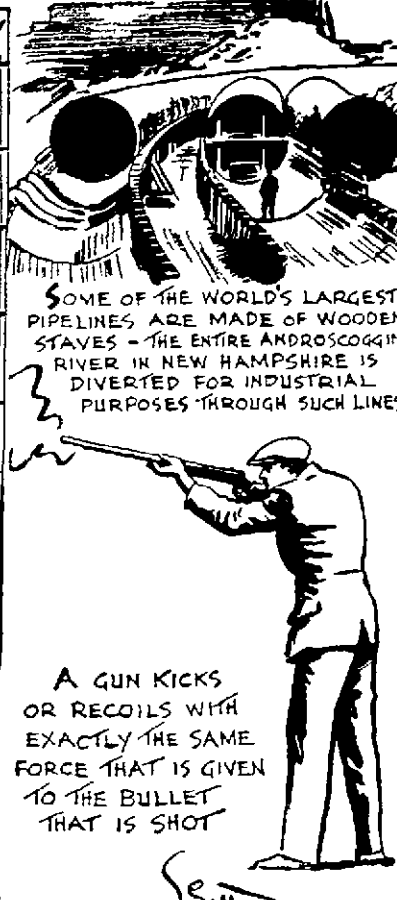

The company began operations with a chemical engine hook and ladder trucks and 50 rubber buckets. The engine was discarded in 1874.

COFFEE HAS NO FLAVOR UNTIL IT IS ROASTED

Behind The News In Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Sept. 24—

New dealers on the grumpy trail through here have the idea that the reform and the social reformation and little of the social bloodhound does not necessarily have to have an unusual nose to hunt the fact that someone has been working the other side of the street out here.

Ominous political footprints as large as the shoes of Democratic Chairman Postmaster General Barter seem to have been left on the road, side all through the middle west.

Here in K. C. they lead right up to the door of Boss Pendergast who mixes concrete and politics by the machine method with excellent results.

In case you have not heard Boss Pendergast's idealism was learned in the lower words. The big nose of his Democratic heart may be measured by the fact that he has permitted one Republican

A single solitary one to hold of floor around these parts. The Republican is one of nine circuit court judges whom Mr. Pendergast decided not to kick out. If you want to know where Mr. Pendergast is going you have only to learn that one of his butler men (Matthew Murray) was given charge of WPA relief work spending in this state by that well known practical idealist of the new deal Harry Hopkins.

Buffaloes

In Illinois the new deal tie up was with the Kelly Chicago machine in Wisconsin with the La Follette Both machines like that of Pendergast are dominant controlling powers.

Outliers may wonder whether any political bed is large enough to hold such strange fellows. Kelly, LaFollette and Pendergast would not even speak to each other on the street so radically different are their views. That may not be necessary under the fairly decentralized remote control system. They take the money run their own ballistics in their own way and may be expected to do live on election day.

Mixing
The Pendergast machine is a V-model with a special axle. It does more than dole out jobs from the inside. It is considered something of a philanthropic institution. The would-be look out for the poor of their neighborhoods furnish food and coal at times to the neediest give Christmas baskets, promote dances and picnics. There are no club room pool hangouts such as Tammany provided for the young men to grow up in but the same buses which take them to the police deliver them at the police station on election day.

The head man in the rearmixed concrete business there is a lot of new building a new work house a new federal postoffice the newest and best air cooled convention hall in the country. (The Republican convention should and probably will come here next year. Hotel accommodations have been expanded.)

New building bond issue $1,400,000 has been put through. At least $100,000 will be spent (with the help of federal contributions) on the new program. At this of course will further cement Mr. Pendergast's friendly relations with Washington.

Roosevelt
The street car motorman will tell you the President is not as stout as he was here. The bus driver will tell you that all business is politically fearful but business is much better and the immediate outlook is bright. These are not the words of a politician however privately rate him as worse than even Ladd but he is hopeful that the trend away from him will continue.

Protect
The plant of the business man here is the same as throughout the middle west. In Chicago Milwaukee or Kansas City he will lean across his desk and tell you,

I am not against reform. Lord knows we need some. The social security legislation is all right with me. But what I want to know is where do we go from here? I am not going to risk my money in spreading my business or expanding my plant if the government is going to turn Socialist on me in the next year or so.

The President's promise of a breathing spell did not mean much to me. That phrase breathing spell sounded like he had some more fireworks in mind for later on. What I would like to have is a good feeling that Washington has done all the socializing it is going to do and that I can plan ahead without fear that some brain truster is going to get a new idea for cracking down on me or ruining me or that spending is going to continue until the government is using itself and me.

Practicality
Don't fall for the rumors you may hear about impending radical turn ups. They are merely because a few farmers have been indicted around here for inciting revolt against government.

The situation on that is the Millo Reno crowd of prairie firemen has a relatively unimportant minority following. His foothold extends into only two or three Missouri counties and perhaps a like number in Kansas. Once in a while the firemen get out their torches and start a political bonfire. That is what happened to cause the indictment.

Oaks

The strange sight hereabouts is one which must make Carle Nation turn over in her grave. This state is as wet as a brick and except on Sundays when every thing closes up. But across the river in the Kansas soil from which prohibition sprang (and where it is still cultivated) the law permits sale of beer any day on the assumption that it is non intoxicating. (Copyright 1935 by Paul Mallon)

BY JAMES MC MULLEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—New Yorkers with excellent Washington contacts understand that one aspect of the breathing spell which conservatives have long demanded is likely to become permanent. They get word that the monetary manipulation phase of the New Deal is definitely over. Probably no public pronouncement to this effect will be made for a while. That would merely be inviting a political kickback from inflationists of various stripes. But financial and industrial leaders are privately confident that the President is finally sold on the need for a stable currency to encourage recovery and thus strengthen his hand for 1936.

The informed credit Vice President Garner and Ray Moley with "skillful salesmanship in this connection. Both share the right wing viewpoint on monetary policy and it is known that they have been doing persistent missionary work along sound money lines for some months.

Alternatives
For one thing it is becoming increasingly difficult to keep the dollar cheap in international exchange. The tide of gold flowing to the United States as a result of war scares and the shaky position of the gold standard countries tends to weaken foreign currencies in terms of our own.

The treasury has so far kept the dollar in bounds by buying gold and silver. But experts estimate that we already have over half the world's supply of unhoarded gold. Also we have something very like a corner on silver—so much so that additional purchases of even a hundred million ounces would come close to draining available sources to the bottom unless China and India loosen up. Therefore our future buying of precious metals is limited. The only other way to purchase foreign irredeemable paper currencies. The treasury has so far declined to stock up with paper money that might suddenly be into a tailspin—and will probably continue to be cautious about it.

So in effect we must either stabilize soon be prepared to spend huge sums in buying foreign currencies that may collapse without warning or watch the dollar zoom to the grip of our exporters (including farmers). Naturally the first of these alternatives has its attractions for the administration. The high franc is still an obstacle. So is England's desire for a cheaper pound—$4.25 is the talk in London. But there is reason to believe that Roosevelt is more eager to promote stabilization than he has been hitherto.

Confidence
Domestically the high cost of living bugaboo is looming larger. Food prices are likely to continue their rise this winter. Consumers protests are mounting—and that's not a healthy condition for an election year. Any inflationary move would add fuel to the flames.

Inflationists already expect Roosevelt to avoid anything that looks like direct inflation if he possibly can. This would bar any form of printing press money and would also outlaw further devaluation. Credit inflation in some form is rated inevitable. But that's subtle and might be so handled as not to promote much of a hoist in the price level. Mr. Roosevelt is said to be finally persuaded that a huge reservoir of excess reserves is meaningless unless private borrowing can be stimulated. That's where the familiar confidence argument comes in—and those who should know say that the President is giving it serious attention at last.

Board
Apart from Chairman Marriner Eccles New York figures that Adolph Miller is the only member of the present federal reserve board who is reasonably certain of reappointment. Mr. Miller was originally named by President Wilson. He did his part in putting the Banking act of 1935 across.

Cynics comment that perhaps some of the other board members would be as good as dead if the praise of the new law in the latest issue of the board's official publication—but you never can tell. As for the new blood, the two names most frequently mentioned as possible appointees are New York State ex-banking superintendent Joseph Broderick and Lynn P. Talley of Texas and the RFC Bankers are surprisingly confident that the new board will be an improvement on the present edition from the angle of financial knowledge and experience.

They
The recent weakness in the stock market traces less to war talk (as generally ascribed) than it does to professional activity. Some of the boys have been tossing their pet stocks around in an effort to get the public excited. The public so far refuses to nibble—so now the strategy is to let prices sag a little in the hope that the man in the street will be responsive to bargains.

Manipulation may be officially dead since the Security Exchange Commission was created—but those who should know say it's one of the liveliest corpses they have ever run across.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories written for The Associated Press.)

A GEN KIEFER WAR STORY
Gen. J. Warren Kiefer was in command of a force of 7,000 men at Winchester Va. when he found Lee intended to send Ewell with 25,000 men to drive him away. Kiefer decided to fall back to Tapers Ferry. To cover this movement he left the flag flying in the fort at Winchester. The rest worked and Kiefer fell back without interruption.

He heard later that Ewell ordered the flag hauled down and packed away to Richmond. Then in 1922 a boy came to Kiefer's home in Springfield and delivered a letter written by Mrs. Anne Jackson of that city saying she and another Winchester girl had taken the flag and concealed it.

MORROW FAIR RACES START

Pace and 2:26 Trot on Program Today After Splitting Former Event.

Special to The Star
MARION, Sept. 24.—A warm, sunny day greeted the hundreds of spectators who gathered to the Morrow county fairgrounds today, Wednesday, the opening day of the 55th annual Morrow fair. The greater part of the day was spent in setting up exhibits and the speed program did not start until 10:30 a. m. Attendance was not large, but the estimated 600 paid admissions to the opening day. This is more than the opening day of fair of 1935. There were two events scheduled for the speed program this afternoon. The 2:26 pace and a 2:26 trot. The 2:26 pace was entered by 10 horses, necessitating a split into two sections. The 2:26 trot was entered by 10 horses. The athletic events scheduled for the afternoon and on Friday will be run off in the evening. An all county orchestra composed of approximately 100 musicians will play in the grandstand during the race events. The midway is well filled with booths and the livestock and other exhibits are more numerous than in previous years. The weather continues through the fair officials expect to see the financial record of the fair years when cold and rainy weather has tended to cut down attendance.

HENRY G. BEACH OF MARYSVILLE DIES

Special to The Star
MARYSVILLE, Sept. 24.—Henry G. Beach, 40, Marysville, died Tuesday at 4:55 p. m. at the Veterans hospital in Marion, Ind., of tuberculosis after being in ill health for years as the result of service overseas with Co. E, 166th Infantry of the Rainbow division. He was a member of the English Lutheran church, the Elk's lodge and the Rainbow Division Veterans association, Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion. Surviving besides his parents are three brothers and two sisters. Full military funeral honors will be paid at services here Friday afternoon. The body will be in state in Co. E armory from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. with an honor guard headed by Co. E. Funeral services at 4 p. m. in the armory will be held in the ritual of the Veterans Foreign Wars, with Rev. H. J. Schaefer of the English Lutheran church officiating. Burial with military honors will be in Oakdale cemetery here.

WAS UP AND DOWN ALL NIGHT LONG

MR. FORD L. GARMIER

"My kidneys were so active that I was up and down all night long. I finally felt tired all the time and I was never free of a dull headache. I tried different treatments but Vendol has given more relief than any of them. The pains are gone. I seldom have a call during the night now and I get good, restful sleep. I just feel so much better now taking Vendol, and gladly recommend it to others," says Mr. Ford L. Garmier of Uniontown, Pa. near Marion.

Vendol is made from juices of roots and herbs which aid the stomach to digest the food properly. It cures constipation, making you regular every day; aids the kidneys which ends backache, getting rid of night and painful joints; stimulates the liver, thereby ending flatulency, dizziness and spots before the eyes.

Try Vendol yourself. It is sold and recommended by all leading druggists everywhere and is being specially introduced by Sams Pharmacy and Henney & Cooper, Inc.

HIS EXCELLENCY

One of a series of Associated Press sketches telling about the men who occupy the governor's chair in the various states.

ALF M. LANDON

THE GOVERNOR OF KANSAS
Alfred Mossman Landon prefers to be called plain "Alf." The "pay-as-you-go," budget-balancing, 48-year-old governor of Kansas is a banker, lawyer, oil man and rancher as well. A native of Pennsylvania, he came to Kansas in 1904, graduated from the law school of the University of Kansas in 1905, went into banking, but soon was lured into oil producing in which he progressed and prospered. Served in the World war. Started in at the bottom of politics as a G. O. P. precinct committeeman. Elected governor in 1932 in face of "new deal" sweep of Roosevelt and again in 1934. His term ended Jan. 1, 1937. He's often called "Lucky" Landon because of his victories in the face of seeming defeat and because he drew a baby daughter in a 500 barrel oil well and a nomination for governor all in one week. A number of his friends call him "Fox" because of his shrewdness and political acumen. He's friendly, informal, unpretentious, unselfish. He dresses for comfort, often appearing in shirt sleeves and tieless when the temperature is high. His hobbies are horse-back riding and fishing.

Your Health

BY DR. H. S. COPELAND

Thyroid.
Not long ago I told you about a rare medical emergency known as "status lymphaticus." In this condition there is an enlargement of the thyroid gland. It is found in infants and young children and if neglected is not without danger to life. Today I want to tell you of certain thyroid disturbances found in children.

Disorders of the thyroid gland frequently occur in childhood. Yet only about one per cent of the thyroid patients recently seen at the Lohry Clinic in Boston were under 13 years of age. It is probable that many cases of thyroid disease in children are overlooked or confused with other ailments. A child afflicted with a thyroid disease complains of symptoms quite similar to those of the adult sufferer. Thyroid disorders in children are usually due to some disturbance in the physical development. Such a disturbance may lead to a lack of secretion, to over-secretion or to a change in the quality of the secretion of the gland.

In former years a condition called "cretinism" caused by a lack of thyroid secretion, was more commonly encountered in this country than it is now. It was especially prevalent in "goitre districts," certain geographical regions where it prospered, and was also found in children born of parents suffering from goitre. In goitre the thyroid gland becomes swollen in its efforts to increase the supply of thyroxine, the secretion produced by the thyroid. I am glad to say that this form of disorder is now seldom seen.

A child afflicted with cretinism fails to grow, remains a dwarf, and is very low in his mental development. These unpleasant symptoms are caused by definite changes in the thyroid gland. The disease may be checked by the internal administration of thyroid extract. Pregnant women with goitre are given iodine during their pregnancy to insure against the birth of a goitrous child.

"Colloid goitre" is another form of trouble in which there is enlargement of the thyroid gland due to long serious causes. This is the most common form of thyroid disturbance met in childhood. It may be the natural reaction of the thyroid gland to the increased physical activity of the child. But it is also related to an iodine deficiency. As a rule this form of thyroid disturbance occurs between the ages of two and 20 years. Rarely does it occur in infancy.

In such cases, small amounts of iodine are prescribed. Sometimes its use is extended over a period of several months. In some cases the swelling may appear within a few months, but when the condition may persist for several years.

Another form, known as exophthalmic goitre, may occur in the child at any age after two years. It is the gland is highly overactive. It is almost identical with the disease as seen in adults.

Like the adult, the child may have a tumor of the thyroid. In such instances, surgery becomes necessary. The tumor should be removed as soon as it is recognized, because delay in operation may lead to serious changes.

Answers to Special Questions
Q.—My child has a swelling in the neck. What should I do?
A.—When a child has a swelling in the neck, it is important to have it examined by a doctor. It may be a simple matter, but it is better to be sure.

Emily Felton has taken steps to divorce the upright Edwin Harrow, the honest and cheerful, the man who has been her life. She has found rather the heroine of her own decision, and she is now in the process of planning to leave him. Judith of Morton Hall, however, is a brilliant and beautiful girl who is in the man Emily's shoes.

back the truck and the rest of those things. Come on down and let me show you to Aubrey. Emily had been prepared to like Aubrey Morton for Judith's sake, but she had reckoned without Judith's uttering instinct for people. Aubrey was fat, as Judith had said with glasses and not much hair. He was barely as tall as Judith and was obviously ten or twelve years older, but you knew immediately that he was just the sort of man Judith should have married.

Behind the glasses his eyes were keen and twinkling, and his hand shake was warm and firm.

"I'd about decided you were like Santa Claus," he said, "somebody you hear about but never see."

His voice was a musical drawl, more reminiscent of the cotton fields than the Carroll voices, which had been tempered with Virginia mellowness. Emily liked him at once.

"I know it," she apologized. "I don't deserve to be remembered."

He smiled. "If Jude ever gets on your trail you haven't got a chance of being forgotten. Not," he added thoughtfully, "that I blame her."

Judith interrupted gaily. "While we're exchanging bouquets let's have a cocktail."

Judith lifted the glass that Aubrey had handed her. "To—the future."

Aubrey glanced sharply at her and watching them Emily saw that neither expression had changed but that Judith had managed with a single slight inflection to convey the entire situation to her husband.

She sensed too that Aubrey had accepted it and secure in his confidence in Judith's judgment had approved it. That she realized with a surge of longing was what marriage should mean—that what she and Edwin would never have achieved in a lifetime.

She lifted her own glass thinking as she drank of the vast spiritual difference that separated Elston from Morton Hall.

Dinner even with the three of them had a festive air for Judith possessed the family gift for enlivening the most casual act with ceremony. During the meal she talked incessantly.

I didn't plan any sort of party for tonight, there's too much to talk about. After I've had a detailed account of the last few years I'll call in the neighbors and show you off but not tonight.

I'm glad you didn't. Emily confessed. I'd rather get acquainted first. Not, she added to Aubrey, that it's a bit difficult. I've simply taken up where I left off eight years ago.

Judith grinned. "That's my amazing personality. Except that you must have it too because just seeing you makes me feel like a girl again."

Aubrey chuckled and beamed impartially at them both. Emily thought with amusement that his attitude towards Judith suggested an old hen who had hatched a young wren.

More than ever in her room that night Judith ran a comb through her short, curly hair and stared thoughtfully at her reflection in the mirror.

Carrollton is on the market again, she said.

Aubrey stopped undressing and looked suspiciously at her. He didn't bother to remind her that it was he who had given her that piece of information. He knew that Judith was merely thinking aloud.

So what?

It can be bought for the price of the mortgage. And since Harrow row didn't mortgage it until after the market crash the amount can't be much. Bankers weren't having any plantations by that time."

It's probably not worth much. Aubrey reminded her. Harrow hasn't spent a cent on it and the land has been going down ever since he bought it. What are you up to now?

Emily has an early breakfast, tomorrow.

Roderick Admits He Found Kevs to All the Cars.

AT THE look of misery that swept across Roderick's face when I had outlined his punishment, I had to force myself to fight the impulse to retract what I had said, and assure the suffering child that I did not mean a word of my dictum.

But the remembrance of the tragedy which his deliberate disobedience had almost precipitated, as well as my belief that he must have some concrete and lasting remembrance as a deterrent to future transgressions and a discipline for his spirit, stiffened my determination, and I waited silently for what he would say in answer to the sentence I had imposed.

He said nothing whatever for a long minute, only gazed pitiously at me. Patently the black cap was on his head and pressing down hard.

"You couldn't—you couldn't—," he stammered at last, and stopped. "Couldn't what, Roderick?" I prompted tenderly.

Not a Whipping

"Couldn't give me a good whipping instead?" he said, his words tumbling over themselves now. "I don't mean you couldn't hurt enough but you could have Will Liams, take a big whip and lani me good."

"No a whipping wouldn't do you any good," I said. "If I found you or Junior being cruel to anything human or animal then I would have you whipped soundly so that you would know what pain is. But I know that neither of you will be cruel and what I am doing now is worse punishment than a whipping."

I'll say it is, he sighed from the depths of his boyish soul.

Temporary Reprieve

Besides, is it fair to punish somebody else for your fault. There is only one person who would have the right to whip you—Mr. Williams is out of the question—and that is your uncle. He is so kind that it would hurt him very much to have to punish you that way and I don't think you ought to expect him to suffer for your fault do you?

The sigh he gave came from his lungs.

No I suppose not," he said. And of course I deserve anything you say. Does this mean that if Scottie comes up and licks my hand I mustn't pat him?

I'm afraid it does Roderick. I said we'll try to keep Scottie so far from you that you won't have that problem to solve."

But Scottie hearing his name put his head over the back seat again in another endeavor to lick the boy's face and at the look in Roderick's eyes I granted a temporary reprieve.

That rule won't go into effect until we start. I said hastily. You may pat Scottie now.

Oh! Scottie, old fellow, he said, chokingly his hand on the dog's head and I felt my own throat muscles contract. But I knew that I must not delay the journey much longer and I forcibly steeled my nerves as I spoke.

He Found Keys

"There's only one thing I want you to tell me about this now," I said. "Where did you get the key with which you started this car?"

He hung his head quickly while his face and neck—all I could see of them—were suddenly scarlet.

I—I found them," he said slowly.

Them? I exclaimed quickly. Have you more? And to the other cars?

He nodded miserably.

I've got one to every car on the place, even Jim's. But I don't know where they are. I didn't steal 'em out of the cars. Honest, I didn't.

There was something in his voice and the look in the eyes uplifted to mine which made me believe him implicitly.

I believe you," I said. "But you know don't you that it was the next thing to stealing to keep car keys which you found?"

Yes I know, he said, but it didn't seem that way when I found 'em. You see I've been collecting 'em a long time—my lips twitched involuntarily but happily Roderick absorbed in his confession did not see my hastily caught back smile.

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT WOMEN DON'T TELL

No matter how bright and cheerful she may be at breakfast no mere wife can ever hope to be a rival to the sporting page of the morning newspaper.

The things that have had most to do with the breaking up of modern marriages are a woman's conviction that she is a reincarnation of Ninon de l'Enclos and a man's secret suspicion that he is a replica of Don Juan.

Nothing is so disappointing as for a girl to buy a book which has been censored, and then discover that it is not very shocking—unless it is for a man to meet a woman against whom he has been warned—and discover that she doesn't even care to vamp him.

No matter how low down a man gets morally financially or socially he can always manage to survive if he can only find someone in whom he feels superior.

Some women come out of a beauty parlor looking as if they had given their vanity a facelift and their moral a platinum rinse.

Every bride goes to the altar with the firm belief that the meek shall inherit the earth—and then the unmeek gets up on his high horse and tries to take it away from her.

There are three things that no normal girl can swallow—cold war, flea tepid soup and lukewarm love-making.

Most bridal couples have that strained, tense look—probably for fear that while he is getting into and she is nervous for fear he may back out of it.

No man is really a confirmed bachelor until a breakfast cooked to just the right turn becomes more comforting than a love affair and a salad flavored to perfection more thrilling than a number of romantic evenings.

A golf addict may know that he has a wife and family—but only by hearsay.

Arrival Here Brings Attention
to Peculiarities of Strange Fowls.

A pair of majestic swans are gracefully swimming the waters of Forest Glen lake at Marion, Ohio, north of Marion. The swans were obtained from the Thiele Jr. of Cairo, N. Y., and the Thiele local representative, J. V. Griffith of 457 West street.

Attention of the birds serves to attract attention several facts not known about swans. The origin of the much-misunderstood "swan song" is explained by Griffith, who recently made a study of swans, says they mate for life and if one dies the other laments and if it too dies within six or eight months. The mate constitutes a farewell song, the "swan song."

After a mate dies, will mate another, Mr. Griffith says.

Mr. Griffith's husband who is asleep at the wheel—mean to dictate to you, but isn't that bill-board at us awfully fast?" — (Pennsylvania Guardsman.)

Life

IS LIKE THAT AT HOTEL CLEVELAND

Everyone remembers you... gives you that pleasant little glow of realizing we're glad to have you here, and want you to be comfortable. Beds are deep and very soft, rooms are bright and pleasantly furnished. The food at Hotel Cleveland is famous. Rare delicacies that remind you of France, or simple dishes prepared in the home-like way you like them.

In addition to being Cleveland's most modern and comfortable hotel, this is also the most centrally located in the city. Hotel Cleveland is only one step, via covered passage, from your train, and two steps from anywhere you'll want to go in the city.

HOTEL CLEVELAND

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Sept. 27

A VERY lively and progressive day is forecast from the ruling lunar transits. Those in employment are under excellent promise of promotion, increase or other signals of favoritism and recognition at the hands of those in places of power and authority. This should be worked for and applied particularly to those in advertising, publicity, writing or promotion. The social, domestic and affectional relations may be also stirring and gratifying.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very propitious year with much promise of advancement, promotion, increase of salary and other marks of recognition and preferment from superiors, employers and those in power. All literary occupations should be active and flourishing, as should social, domestic and romantic affairs.

A child born on this day may be versatile, refined, popular, in both business and private life, winning honors from superiors. Notable nativity: Thomas Nast, cartoonist.

WALDO LUTHERANS ARE ENTERTAINED

League Meets at Home of Marjorie Gearhiser.

Special to The Star
WALDO, Sept. 26 -- Miss Marjorie Gearhiser was hostess Thursday to the Luther league at her home east of town. A business meeting was conducted by the president, Ralph Augenstein, and Miss Helen Strine conducted devotionals. Guests were Miss Josephine Brundige and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gearhiser. A cafeteria supper and social time was enjoyed.

Rev. David Shepherd filled the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday in the absence of the regular pastor, J. A. Currier. There will be no preaching services at the church Sunday on account of it being conference Sunday at the meeting of the general conference at Columbus.

A dinner was given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gibson by Mrs. Gibson, honoring the 78th birthday of her husband, Mr. Gibson, and the 33d birthday of Edward Doyle, a foster son of Marion. Others present were Mrs. Ella Doyle of Springfield and O. L. Murphy of here.

LEGION ARMISTICE COMMITTEE NAMED

T. E. Andrews, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, today announced the appointment of a committee to assist John V. Ruth, chairman of the post Armistice Day arrangements. On the committee are Dr. F. L. Thomas, Millard E. Baldwin, Roy H. Wardell, L. M. Eikenberry, Dana Daniels and Charles Howard. Mr. Ruth was appointed chairman on Sept. 9.

GEORGE PAHL DIES AT HOME IN CAREY

Special to The Star
CAREY, O., Sept. 26—George Pahl, 44, died yesterday at his home in Carey after a five months' illness of cancer of the stomach. He was born Jan. 1, 1891, in Carey and was married in 1914 to Miss Minnie Stoll. He was a yardman for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. Surviving with the widow are five children, Margaret of Columbus and Catherine, Martha, LeRoy and Gerald at home, a sister, Mrs. Florence Werner of Dayton and a brother, Mark Pahl of Columbus. The requiem mass will be celebrated Friday at 9:30 a. m. at the Our Lady of Consolation Catholic church. Burial will be made in St. Mary's Catholic cemetery.

TWO COUPLES GET KENTUCKY LICENSES

Two couples from the vicinity of Marion have been granted marriage licenses in Kentucky, according to a news report. They are Margaret E. Beach and James W. Lyons, both of Richmond, at Catlettsburg, and Lillian Clark, 21, of Williamsport and Fleetwood James, 24, of Fredericktown, at Greenup.

EVERY TANKFUL YOU BUY..

keeps MARION WORKERS BUSY

The dimes and dollars you spend
at the Soho sign do double duty.

1. They support a great home industry—keep Marion workers busy—and return home as Marion workers spend them for their daily needs.
2. They buy products of recognized high quality — quality that has made the name "Soho" first choice with Ohio motorists everywhere.

And, of course, courteous Soho Service is gladly given to you at any time.
